The British Chapter of Colleges and Universities of the Anglican
Communion (CUAC)

Invitation to apply for membership

We are forming a British chapter of CUAC because:

- the Anglican identity of our Institutions continues to be an irreducible mark of our distinctiveness
- our Anglican identity should, therefore, colour our Institutions' contemporary practice and self-understanding
- there is a desire that our practice of research, teaching and learning should contribute, in broad terms, to the mission of the Anglican Church
- in the current context of challenge, HE Institutions can uniquely connect across the Anglican Communion independently of existing ecclesiastical structures
- participation in global network affords clearer self-reflection
- at the heart of the notion of communion lies the theological conviction that being Anglican means more than a commitment to a local context

Chapter Aims:

- To promote the development and co-operation of Anglican Colleges and Universities in Great Britain (and Ireland)
- To encourage cross-cultural exchanges, visits, institutional links, shared teaching and research programmes between member Colleges and Universities of CUAC
- To encourage, support and promote the Anglican identity of member Colleges and Universities
- To promote the dissemination of best practice and create collaborative opportunities for Service Learning amongst members
- To encourage Anglican Universities and Colleges to contribute towards the realisation of the Millennium Development Goals (MGGs)
- To organise an annual conference to support these aims in the years between the Triennial
